UNIBROUE BEERS FROM CHAMBLY, QUEBEC

La Fin Du Monde

This triple-style golden is the most famous, and most popular, started by European visitors who thought they had found the end of the world when they discovered North America. This beer is made with a natural carbonation which makes it taste fruity and light.

Maudite

An amber or red ale based on a trip the Devil gave to some unfortunate Lumberjacks, who were damned by him, thus the name of this beer. This robust and spicy red ale has a complex flavor and is devilishly delicious.

Blanche de Chambly

The first of all the Unibroues, named after Captain de Chambly, a French Canadian military hero. This White Champagne-style beer uses pale barley malt, and is only partially filtered giving it the natural cloud of yeast so popular in the Middle Ages.

Trois Pistoles

Based on a story of a Black Horse sent by the Devil to help build a Church, this is a dark brown beer with great fruit aromas. Hints of cocoa and fruit make this a smooth, luxurious beer, with strength and complexity.

Don-de-Dieu

This is an Abbey-style triple-wheat ale named after the Ship that Samuel Champlain traveled on for the King of France. Malty, yeasty, and nutty, this beer pairs well with game meats.

Éphémère

The story of a Fairy looking for love, and her dreams, this is a lighter beer with a fruity flavor, and draws its charms from a bountiful seasons harvest. White ale with hints of apple, is delicate with its hint of sweetness.

Crown Royal

Created for King George the VI as an elixir, packaged in a crown-shaped bottle, and presented in a purple bag to the Monarch. It is a rich, amber liquid with hints of oak and vanilla.

Pendleton

Specifically created to celebrate the bold spirit of independence and hardwork ethic of the American Cowboy and Cowgirl. It is aged for 10 years in charred oak barrels then mixed with glacier water from Mt. Hood. Heavy malt, leather, pecan, caramel, and tobacco on the nose with a smoky and sweet finish.

Forty Creek

Named after Forty Mile Creek in Grimsby, Ontario, Canada. A unique barrel selection process results in a whisky where aromas of honey, vanilla, and apricot fuse with toasty oak, black walnut, and spice. The flavor is rich and bold.
