A BLOOMIN’ CELEBRATION

Epcot® International Flower & Garden Festival sprouts new Disney fun
Eric Darden is very excited about the Epcot® International Flower & Garden Festival, coming March 18 through May 31, 2009. Often when he asks Guests what they like about the annual event, they reply, “Disney Character topiaries!” Eric, as the Horticulture Manager for the Festival, is happy to oblige. He and his team have been working all year to create new topiaries in addition to bringing back some all-time favorites not seen in many years. And that’s in addition to all the other dazzling displays, fascinating seminars, hands-on demonstrations, kids’ activities—plus a new garden featuring some magical friends.

Fond friends formed from foliage

“Since you can celebrate anything at Walt Disney World®, Resort, we’re starting right at the Epcot® entrance with a “Cinderelabration,” Eric told us. “You’ll see Cinderella and Prince Charming, of course, and a stylized coach. But we’ll also have topiary versions of Belle, Beast, Snow White, the Seven Dwarfs and, for the first time, Princess Aurora and Prince Phillip.”

“Behind Spaceship Earth we’re celebrating the art and music of Fantasia with some of our classic topiaries. Lumière, Mrs. Potts, Chip and Cogsworth will be in front of the fountain stage. When you arrive at World Showcase, you’ll see a birthday celebration for Simba with his friends from ‘The Lion King.’”

So “pick” up your Pass and “transplant” yourself to all the fun! For more information including a list of all our special experiences and exhibits, visit disneyworld.com/flower.
Celebrate!
Join in the new street party

By now, Passholders know that this year Walt Disney World® Resort is making it easier for them to celebrate any of life’s special moments. Well, one very big way that will be happening is a brand-new extravaganza aptly titled the Move It! Shake It! Celebrate It! Street Party. Or as Walt Disney World Entertainment Producer Gary Gutierrez calls it, “The ultimate celebration that celebrates everything worth celebrating.”

The street party, which is set to premiere this month at Magic Kingdom® Park, will be performed multiple times daily. The magic kicks off with Disney Characters, gift-wrapped package floats, stilt-walkers and other performers promenading toward Cinderella Castle, as an emcee entices Park-goers to join in.

Contemporary music, classic Disney

Like most Disney productions, this one is driven by a fantastic score. “The music is all contemporary,” Gary told us. “They’re the songs kids and parents hear on Radio Disney. We wanted everyone to have a chance to sing along.”

Of course, the classic Disney contingent is also well represented. As the party settles in at the Castle hub, packages burst open to reveal Disney Characters like the Genie or Sebastian singing a signature tune. And inviting everyone to dance along.

“This is the main idea of the show,” said Gary, “to have that opportunity to play and dance with the characters.”

Disney insiders are calling this street party one of the most exciting new Magic Kingdom parades our artists and performers have ever dreamed up. And Gary, for one, agrees.

“We do what we do for a reason,” said Gary. “And once it hits the street and we see the Guests interacting and you hear that first ‘wow,’ it’s very exciting.”

Announcing our first Passholder essay contest winner!

In our last issue, we asked Passholders to sharpen their pencils and write about one of four Disney topics. And now (many, many, happy Passholder essays later) we’re pleased to announce the first of our four winners! Marnie Skipper, a Passholder from Panama City Beach, Florida, takes the prize with her “What Will You Celebrate?” essay.

“It was a long shot, but I love to write, so I thought, let’s give it a try.” Marnie told us about her decision to enter. Imagine her surprise when the good news arrived in the mail. “I opened it and went squealing into the driveway. My son was in shock. I was just so happy.”

Marnie’s husband Jeff and their kids Skip and Jordan all love getting away to the Parks. “My husband has ridden Kilimanjaro Safaris so often, we joke that he’s an honorary citizen of Harambe.”

“What will you celebrate in 2009?” by Marnie Skipper

“What will you celebrate in 2009?” That’s easy—birthdays, a wedding anniversary, any occasion we can think of to go to Disney, but most of all, our family! In fact, every time we visit Walt Disney World® Resort we celebrate our family. Like most families today, we lead such busy lives that time together is a precious commodity. However, things are different when we go to Disney. There are no schedules to juggle, no cell phones ringing and no “to-do” list. Our only priority is having fun—together.

It is amazing that in today’s world there is a place that allows you to completely elude reality, if only for a short while. Walt Disney World is our family’s place to escape—our “Happy Place,” if you will. While at Disney, our biggest concerns become how many times we can ride Kilimanjaro Safaris, or if we will make it to Cinderella Castle in time to get the perfect view of Wishes! We forget about the reality of everyday life and focus on being together. Everything we do at Disney is done as a family and that is something to celebrate!

To see the other winners of the contest, go to disneyworld.com/passholder and look under the News and Events section.
Last December, Passholders got one step closer to experiencing the “American Idol” phenomenon at a special backstage tour of the new The American Idol Experience* at Disney’s Hollywood Studios™. The behind-the-scenes sneak peek included a look at an initial audition room and the producer audition room, as well as an up-close look at the stage itself featuring the glitz and glamour of the hit television series’ stunning set.

Be sure to look out for more exclusive Passholder events throughout the year.

Own a piece of Space Mountain history!

In 1975, we were lucky enough to become home to the original Space Mountain® attraction. And now we’re returning the favor—by returning the attraction to its “opening day” splendor. Beginning in April 2009, Imagineers will perform a “space-lift” to make this classic even better.

Don’t worry. The original elements—from the serpentine track to the exterior silhouette—will remain unchanged when it reopens later this year. However, the makeover has given us an opportunity to provide a one-of-a-kind chance for one lucky Passholder (see inset below).

A rite of passage—through space!

Recently, we had a chance to chat with Passholders about the attraction, and saw how it has become a treasured rite of passage among our most ardent fans.

“I’ll never forget riding Space Mountain with our grandson, Dylan,” said Passholder Lisa Dauk. “It was his very first time. He said it was ‘mixed-up, crazy, belly-tickling fun!’ It’s amazing to have that memory.”

“Our family loves to ride it together,” said Harold Rother. “We’ve ridden Space Mountain in Paris and at Disneyland® Park, but the one here in Florida is still our very favorite.”

Be sure to head to the Magic Kingdom® Park before April for another zip through space…before we all begin the countdown to reopening.

A chance to Win an actual part of Space Mountain!

As a Passholder, you have a chance to win an original sign from the attraction in our special Space Mountain sweepstakes. Visit disneyworld.com/passholder for details and Official Rules.

No purchase necessary. Void where prohibited. Begins March 2, ends April 3, 2009. Open to Walt Disney World® Passholders 21 or older, in good standing and legal residents of the 50 United States or D.C. For full Official Rules, write to: Disney Destinations, LLC, 2009 Passholder Sweepstakes Celebrating Space Mountain, PO Box 10000, Lake Buena Vista, FL 32830.

Passholder Speaker Event

to highlight the Year of the Gorilla

When the Dian Fossey Gorilla Fund initiated the first rescue center in east Africa designed to reintroduce orphaned gorillas back into the wild, they were missing one very important skill set. These renowned experts on gorillas in the wild lacked the expertise in caring for gorillas in a managed setting. That’s when they turned to Disney.

The Disney Worldwide Conservation Fund will not only provide funding for the facility, but is sending specialists from Disney’s Animal Kingdom® Theme Park to assist with development and construction of the center.

“We’re delighted to provide staff expertise and funding for this much-needed facility,” said Dr. Jackie Ogden, Vice President of Disney’s Animal Programs.

The center is just one way to fight the extinction of gorillas in the wild, a situation growing more and more dire due to habitat loss, hunting, diseases and other threats. That’s why the World Association of Zoos and Aquariums in partnership with a number of other international organizations have designated 2009 as The Year of the Gorilla.

Learn more at our exclusive Passholder Speaker Series

Dr. Jackie and other Disney wildlife experts will be addressing The Year of the Gorilla at our next Passholder Speakers Event, demonstrating the company’s role in the effort with a visit to the Park’s gorilla exhibit and a behind-the-scenes surprise just for Passholders.

“There is a very personal level to this for me,” Dr. Jackie told us. “My Ph.D. dissertation was on gorillas, and I take very special pride in all the work we do for them.”

Speaking with Passholders also holds a special place in Dr. Jackie’s heart. “Doing things with the Passholders gives us that rare opportunity to get in touch with the community, which is something we really enjoy.”

The Hensons were also a Passholder family. “I have good memories of coming down here with Mom and my brother, John,” said Heather. “I love the relationship between Disney and Henson because Dad wanted it. I’m happy that the Muppet characters live on at Disney.”
